

Sharon Smaldino, Co-Author, Chapter

Northern Illinois University

ssmaldino@niu.edu

Sharon Smaldino (PhD in Educational Technology, Southern Illinois University-Carbondale, MA in Elementary Education, University of Connecticut) holds the LD & Ruth G. Morgridge Endowed Chair for Teacher Education and serves as Director of the College of Education Partnership Office at Northern Illinois University. She has taught courses in distance education, technology integration, and professional standards. She has co-authored several books, including Teaching at a Distance: Foundations for Distance Education, Instructional Technologies and Media for Learning, and with Dr. Herring, Planning for Interactive Distance Education: A Handbook. She has conducted numerous workshops related to distance education. Dr. Smaldino is an Association for Educational Communications and Technology Past-President. She has served on several committees, the board of directors, and is currently serving as the Editor-in-Chief for TechTrends.